GERMANS HAVE NOT BEEN IDLE
Forts at Kiao Chau Have Been Strengthened and the Warships Are Ready for Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—War between Japan and Germany, with the formal declaration tomorrow, was deemed inevitable by officials here, late this afternoon, following rapid developments.
Japan is ready to withdraw her diplomatic representatives from Berlin. This afternoon she directed her Berlin embassy to leave the Japanese embassy at Berlin at 4 a. m. Sunday morning, if a favorable reply is not made by that time to the ultimatum to Germany to withdraw from the orient.
Severance of diplomatic relations between Japan and Germany is expected to be followed by an immediate declaration of war upon the kaiser by the mikado. Such action would leave the United States alone among the great powers uninvolved in the world.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Official announcement was made by Secretary of State Bryan today that this government has made clear its position to Japan in the Japanese-German controversy. In substance the situation is that the United States intends to keep hands off.
The United States note, transferred to the Japanese government, through the American ambassador at Tokyo, emphasized President Wilson's position that this government wishes to avoid any position favoring of partiality and therefore refused to discuss the ultimatum to Germany.

Japan was told, however, that the United States believed Japan's assurances that her only motive in the far eastern situation is to restore to China the German possession of Kiao Chau.
The striking feature of the note was that the United States requested that in event of extension of Japanese operations in the far east, the United States should be notified thereof.

Acting apparently on the assumption that hostilities between Japan and Germany are inevitable, Baron Chinda, Japanese ambassador, today arranged with Secretary Bryan for transmission of a note from the Japanese government to the Berlin government, and intimated broadly that its purpose was solely to care for certain details in Berlin in case Germany refuses to accede to Japan's Kiao Chau ultimatum.
While the Japanese embassy was not informed as to the immediate steps which the mikado's charge at Berlin would take, the officials here believe that the charge would ask for his passports if Germany refuses to accept the ultimatum.
Later, it was explained at the Japanese embassy that the note Chinda asked Bryan to send to Berlin informed the Japanese charge at Berlin that in "case of emergency" he should turn over the Japanese embassy to the United States ambassador. The embassy here said the ultimatum time limit expired at noon Sunday, Tokyo time, which would make it four o'clock tomorrow morning at Berlin.

Japan All Ready
SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—Not only a Japanese fleet but also an immense Japanese army is already waiting the word to strike at Kiao Chau. Japan has not waited for the expiration of her ultimatum to place her forces in position. Advice from Tokyo proves this although the censorship is absolute and Japanese correspondents are warned that any publication of news of the army or navy will be punished by death.

SERBIANS CLAIM HUGE VICTORY ON BANKS OF DRINA

Declare Austrians Have Lost 25,000 Men in Three-day Engagement

BATTLE STARTED BY AUSTRIANS
Serbs Claim They Repulsed Assault and Assumed the Defensive

TURNED LEFT WING WITH BAYONET
Assert Austrian Retreat Was Rout and that Entire Regiments Were Wiped Out

NISH, Serbia, Aug. 22.—Reports of fighting of the most desperate character in which it is stated the Serbian forces have been uniformly successful, were made public by the war office today. These official accounts claim that in the three days fighting along the banks of the river Drina covering a front of twenty-five miles, the Austrians have lost 25,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners. Entire regiments have been wiped out. The report says:
"For three days the Serbian and Austrian armies were in battle along the river Drina, the theater of action covering a front of twenty-five miles. The Austrians attacked in force with all arms of the service represented. The Serbian defense was superb. After breaking the force of the Austrian assault, the Serbians assumed the offensive. By a series of bayonet charges the Austrian left wing was turned. Then a general Serbian attack followed and the Austrians were routed, having to retreat in great confusion, abandoning their artillery and supply trains.
"The Austrians lost 25,000 in killed, wounded and captured. Entire Austrian regiments were wiped out. The Austrians are now in full retreat with the Serbian army in pursuit."
Among the killed were several Austrian officers of high rank, while other prominent Austrian officers are prisoners.

ENGLAND CALLS RESERVISTS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The acting consul general of Great Britain in this city, R. L. The British government has agreed to pay the fares of all reservists to England from the places where they now live.

STEALS WIFE OF HIS BOYHOOD CHUM

Charles F. Young Arrested Here Today with "Soul Mate" Who Belonged to Another

Charles F. Young, Minnesota farm hand, was arrested here today charged with stealing the wife of E. E. Drake, a boyhood chum, with whom he had been visiting at Dover, Olmsted county, Minnesota.
Young went to see his schoolboy friend, Drake. Drake is a young farmer and is working a quarter section of land belonging to his wife's father.
"Make the house your home," he told Young.
Mrs. Drake is unusually young and unusually beautiful.
Drake returned from the field, where he had worked all afternoon, to find his house vacant.
He sought his whereabouts were a mystery and then it was learned that she and Young had stayed for that length of time at Wykoff, Minn.
Drake got out a warrant.
Sheriff E. K. Blehrud of Preston, Fillmore county, caught Young.
The wife and her "soul mate" go back to Dover tonight.

MODERNISM ISSUE IN ELECTION OF NEW CHURCH HEAD

Sacred College Divided Into Two Factions Over Continuation of Policies of Pius X

PROVISIONAL BURIAL TODAY
Body Is Taken from Chapel Where It Lay in State and Interred in St. Peter's

CEREMONY OCCURS AT NIGHT
Remains of Pontiff Are First Wrapped in Scarlet Coverlet and Placed in Three Caskets

ROME, Aug. 22.—Thirty cardinals having arrived in Rome for the conclave at which a successor to the late Pope Pius X will be selected, it became apparent today that the election of the new head of the Catholic church will hinge upon the question of modernism.
It is expected today that the sacred college will be divided into two factions. One will favor a continuation of the fight against modernism conducted by Pope Pius. The other, a more liberal element, will

Calls Conclave
ROME, Aug. 22.—Cardinal Chamberlain Della Volpe formally announced this afternoon that the conclave which will elect a successor to Pope Pius X will convene on August 31.

be headed by Cardinal Pietro Maffi, Cardinal Andrea Ferrari and Cardinal Gasparri. Heading the faction advocating a continuation of the policies of Pope Pius will be Cardinal Gaetano De Lai, Cardinal Billot, Cardinal Sevin and Cardinal Du Billard.

Cardinals Look to Future
When the body of Pope Pius, enclosed in three caskets, is entombed in St. Peter's at 6 o'clock this evening, the conclave will convene to elect a successor to the late pontiff. The cardinals will dedicate themselves to consideration of the future.

Owing to the violent storm late yesterday which forced the closing of St. Peter's where the body of his holiness was being viewed by the public, the body again lay in state today until 4 o'clock. At that time preparations were made for the interment.

According to the provisions for this ceremony it takes place at night and is attended by the members of the pontifical guard, disunitaries of the papal court, the cardinals and prelates in the regalia of their offices, together with members of the family of the late pontiff, members of the papal diplomatic corps and members of the patrician families of Rome.

The body of the late pope will be carried in procession from the chapel of the sacrament to the choir chapel, with the singing of psalms and funeral rites by the chapel choir. The body will be placed first in the casket of cypress wood after being wrapped in a red coverlet. A purse of gold, silver and bronze medals, representing the number of years the pontiff lived, and a metal cylinder containing a brief history of the pope are placed in the casket which is sealed and then enclosed in a casket of lead. This, in turn, is placed in a coffin of oak which is decorated with the cross, the coat of arms of the pope, and other pontifical emblems.

From the moment of the reading of the process verbal and the sealing of the first casket, the body of the pope is no longer in charge of the sacred college. It is then in the care of the canons of St. Peter's. With the last of the three caskets the body is then lifted to the niche to the left of the choir chapel, where the body remains until the permanent tomb is prepared.

FRENCH AND RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVES TRY TO WIN OVER ITALY

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Rome correspondent of the Evening News says that M. Theophile Delcasse, and Count Witte, representing France and Russia are in Rome in conference with the cabinet.
This statement is interpreted here as meaning that a crisis in Italy's affairs is at hand. A German diplomatic mission has been in Rome for the last four days, endeavoring to persuade Italy to keep her pledges to Germany and Austria. Italy has refused to be drawn into the conflict and has insisted on maintaining neutrality. Now Russia and France are believed to be endeavoring to line up Italy against Germany and Austria.

RUSSIAN FORCES TAKE OFFENSIVE

Official Report Says They Have Penetrated Fifty Miles Into Austria

ARE WORKING ON PRUSSIAN LINE
Main Army Has Followed the Cavalry Across the Austrian Frontier

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 22.—That the Russian invasion of Galicia is progressing very rapidly, with the main Russian army already 35 miles inland enroute to Lemberg, was indicated by an official statement made this afternoon. It was intimated that the Russian army, proceeding from the mobilization triangle of Lutsk, Dubno and Rovno, has defeated a large Austrian army at Krassna, Galicia, with enormous loss and has taken 1,250 prisoners.

Nearly to Lemberg
The Russian army, which has been operating through the valley of the River Styr, is now following the main line of the railroad on Lemberg, capital of Galicia, and is already within thirty miles of that city. Cosacks are sweeping the country ahead of the main Russian column which is made up of cavalry supported by artillery. No statement of the Russian losses has been made.

Discussing the operations in the Gumbinnen district of eastern Prussia, the Russian war office declares that the Russians continue on the offensive and are slowly but surely pushing forward through the German lines. The main Russian army is following the railroad that connects Konigsberg with the frontier. Thursday and Friday there was severe fighting between Gumbinnen and Insterberg, the Russian advance being opposed by a German force numbering in excess of 50,000 men. The German column is made up for the most part of infantry, supported by heavy artillery and machine guns mounted on automobiles.

The Russian forces engaged comprise some of the crack divisions of the service and among the casualties already reported are some of the best known men of the empire. The fighting is said to be most desperate character. The German defenders are heavily entrenched and it has been necessary to carry some of the passes with a series of desperate charges, in which whole bodies of Russians have been decimated. But at no time has the Russian attack faltered and they have been able to make slow but sure headway against the defending army. The Germans are reported as bringing up reinforcements from the south.

Official Statement

The official bureau today issued the following announcement:
"The entire Russian army is now assuming the offensive at every selected point covering the entire eastern Prussian and Austrian frontier. The German and Austrian armies are being forced back all along the line. Already much of the Prussian frontier is held by Russian troops and at certain points in Austria the advance guard of the Russians is more than fifty miles inside of the frontier."
"The temper of the officers and men is excellent. There has been much fighting with heavy losses to the enemy. The Russians have captured a number of German field guns."

It is stated that the invasion of Austria with cavalry had been in progress for several days but that the main army, comprising an enormous force of infantry with sappers, artillery and other needed supports, actually crossed the frontier yesterday. This army is expected to push rapidly forward.

The invasion of Prussia is being greatly aided by the Russian aviation corps.
In addition the Russians have used bombs to great advantage. A number of German military supply depots inside of the Prussian boundary have been demolished by explosives dropped by the aviators.

Thomas Morris Returns from Three Weeks' Campaign Tour of State of Wisconsin

PHILIPP "BOOM" ALL FROTH
Says that "Few Stalwarts Still Left" Are Ones Who Furnish "Big Crowds" at Meeting

VISITS DAVIDSON'S OLD HOME
Is Met by Crowd of Progressives at Soldiers Grove; Motors to La Crosse from Viroqua

After a three weeks' campaign tour of the state, during which he met and addressed thousands of voters, Lieut.-Governor Thomas Morris, candidate for the United States senate, arrived in La Crosse from Viroqua by auto late last night.
Mr. Morris averaged a little better than a county a day and everywhere he was met by good sized crowds and everywhere he received assurances of support in the coming primaries and the following campaign.
"Everything looks favorable," said Mr. Morris this morning.
While Mr. Morris was not ready to give out a statement summing up the conditions in the state, as he sees them, relative to the senatorial nomination, he did take time to say that the Philipp-for-governor boom is mostly press-agenting.

Philipp "Boom" Froth
"There is nothing to the Philipp campaign but froth. The people know Mr. Philipp and know that he stands for Big Business. He is president of the Union Refrigerator Transit company, one of the Big Business concerns in the country that has capitalized necessity and extracted from the people who are compelled to use his refrigerator cars, extraordinary profits."
"Mr. Philipp opposed primary election law, equal taxation, the pure food law, workmen's compensation act, income tax law and, indeed, all legislation in the interest of the people enacted during the last fifteen years."

"The reactionary press of the state, misrepresents the facts in regard to the attendance at Mr. Philipp's meetings. Outside of the stalwarts, a few of whom still remain, no one has been attending his meetings."

Misrepresentation
"His campaign has been one of misrepresentation from the beginning. When he was nominated at Madison it was by men who had served as lobbyists at Madison for the special interests during the last ten or twelve years. Notwithstanding he was nominated by a convention composed of lobbyists and not by the republican party he assumes to use the party name and maintains a head-on attack on the name in the hope of misleading the republican voters of the state. In other words he has adopted the same methods used by the 'Eleventh Story League' of years ago. The methods employed by him when he compiled the notorious Red Book, used in the campaign of 1904, which is still remembered by progressive republicans as most despicable and disreputable politics."

Visits Davidson's Home

Mr. Morris' return to La Crosse yesterday ended a tour of Crawford county which started at Prairie du Chien early in the morning.
Soldiers Grove, home of ex-Governor James O. Davidson, was the last place in the county at which Mr. Morris spoke.

He was greeted there by Dr. A. J. McDowell, Alvin B. Peterson, prominent attorney and former county judge; Olaf and David Davidson, nephews of the former governor; Edward Wiley and other progressive republican leaders.
George Bryan, prominent farmer of that district and a prominent member of the American Society of Equity, was one of the first to shake hands with the lieutenant governor following his address.

"I was pleased with the stand you took on state issues and the complete outline you gave of your stand on national issues," said Mr. Bryan. "If more candidates would tell where they stand on state issues it would enable the voter to cast his ballot with a greater degree of intelligence."
To La Crosse With Winter
In company with Assemblyman T. F. Clancy, Soldiers Grove, Mr. Morris and party motored to Viroqua, the home of Andrew H. Dahl, where he took supper.
At Viroqua the party was met by Attorney Frank Winter, La Crosse, and Lucien Ried and were conveyed to La Crosse in Mr. Winters' auto.

FRENCH DRIVEN FROM LORRAINE
Movement Against Metz and Strassburg Utterly Checked by German Army of the Saar

FRENCH EXPLAIN "STRATEGY"
Assert Retirement Was Dictated by Reasons Purely Strategic When Out-numbered

PARIS, Aug. 22.—France tonight pledged her last man and her last franc to redeem Belgium from the Germans. Stirred by implied criticism that the French troops had failed Belgium in her hour of trial and had failed properly to reinforce the small Belgian army, the war office issued the following statement:
"France is not unmindful of Belgium's aid in the present crisis. She has no intention of abandoning her ally in this extremity. Nothing is to be left undone to free Belgium from the German oppression. The last French soldier and the last French money will be used to protect Belgium and no Frenchman will abate his efforts while a single German remains alive on Belgian soil."

BY WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The German troops are moving very fast all through northern and eastern Belgium. Practically unopposed, they have spread through Brussels to Ghent toward Ostend. Strong bodies of the enemy are pressing steadily along both banks of the Meuse just out of range of the guns of the fortifications of Namur.

A strong German column, with heavy artillery is bombarding Namur. Every indication points to a sharp assault on the French lines of defense. Just where the blow is being struck by the allied armies is a profound secret. But the war office experts declare that every move of the Germans in Belgium has been anticipated and that it will be met when the proper time comes.

In Lorraine the French army has retired to the protection of the Vosges passes, and the movement against Strassburg and Metz, heretofore considered as impossible to stop, has been utterly checked by the German army of the Saar. The war office, however, says that the check was due to the French invaders encountering a vastly superior force, and was "dictated by purely strategic reasons."

The French at Mulhausen also are being pressed, as the German forces from the Swiss border reinforced by picked Austrian troops are enveloping them and a third battle is imminent there.

All of the official communications today show a general German advance, but each has been coupled with the claim that the war office has anticipated these moves, and that the machinery has been set in operation to check them.
Angry Over Indemnity
There is intense indignation here over the action of Germany in levying a forced war tax of $40,000,000 on Brussels, $10,000,000 on the province of Liege and $2,000,000 on the city of Liege. News of this has resulted in bitter denunciation of the Germans as "robber barons," by all British papers. In this connection, however, it is pointed out that Germany has also made it plain that she will not retail any formidable garrison in the Belgian capital, indicating that the taking of Brussels was not considered of any great moment by the German staff.
Messages from Antwerp say that Brussels and Liege burgomasters have refused pointblank to pay the levy, and no hint of how the Germans plan to force payment has reached here.

The Russian offensive movement is described by the war office as "extremely strong." It is known that the great hope of the British experts is that the Russian invasion of Germany and Austria will be so swift that it will be necessary to withdraw troops from the French frontier to meet it. The announcement that the Landsturm, the German home defense line, has been called to the colors, is construed here as meaning that this force of more than a million men will be used to repulse the invasion.

HOPE NOW RESTS ON RUSSIA

ANGRY AT WAR INDEMNITY
Denounce Germany for Levying $52,000,000 Tax on Subdued Belgian Communities

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Cable communication with Ostend has been interrupted since 10:15 this morning. This is accepted in official circles as proof that the Germans now occupy the city. Passengers arriving at Folkestone by the last regular steamer, say that the German cavalry was just outside of Ostend, in considerable force, last night. The populace of the city was reported in a panic.

BY ED L. KEEN (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Jubilant over the series of successes by the Belgian army gave way to serious concern over the present situation. The occupancy of Ostend, giving Germany control of the Belgian coast, while not officially confirmed, is accepted as practically a certainty. The newspapers, lead by the Times, the Post and the Express, all voice the fear that this latest German move may mean an attempted raid through the air, directed against England.

While the majority of the military experts say they cannot conceive any such move, the great majority of Britons have for years been apprehensive of a German Zeppelin sailing over England, dropping high explosives on its cities. The knowledge that Germans are within four hours of the British coast, by steamer, has made many nervous.
The war office, however, refused to be impressed by this possibility. In an exhaustive review of the situation to date, it declared that no elaborate successes have as yet crowned the efforts of either side. It is pointed out that in the present formidable encounter along the entire Belgian-French line, the fighting to date has been comparatively unimportant.

Protest Levy
Germans have levied a war tax of $40,000,000 on Brussels, $10,000,000 on the province and $2,000,000 on the city of Liege. News of this has resulted in bitter denunciation of the Germans as "robber barons," by all British papers. In this connection, however, it is pointed out that Germany has also made it plain that she will not retail any formidable garrison in the Belgian capital, indicating that the taking of Brussels was not considered of any great moment by the German staff.

Fighting Desperate

While officials of the war office insist that the Germans will be checked before they can get very far over the French frontier, they have no hesitation in admitting that the fighting now begun, and increasing in volume as the outposts fall back on the main army, will be of the most desperate character and that the resources of the allies will be tested to the utmost.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Daddy Tells The Best Way To Catch Fish.

"DADDY, can we go fishing with you before long?" asked Jack. "I like to do that, though somehow I never seem to catch many fish."
 "I'll tell you why you don't catch them, Jack," said daddy.
 "Listen."
 "Once upon a time," continued daddy, "a boy and his sister went with their daddy fishing in the woods. They were good children and minded their steps when on the bank, so daddy was not afraid to let them go with him. Besides, he had taught them to swim, anyway."
 "This was the prettiest little stream you ever saw, singing through the woodland as if it enjoyed every minute of its life, which, I am sure, it did. And there were the loveliest trees and grasses along its brink; slim alders that drooped over the water as if they were bowing to it—'How do you do?' like that—and stately white birches that carried themselves as if they had been queens—which they were, for they were queens of the wood. And there were ever so many other trees and thick bushes and long grasses, and, all told, it made a lovely summer picture."
 "Now, the little girl had watched her daddy fish often before then, and she always did just as he did, and the little boy, he had seen his father fish, too, but he was quite impatient and restless, as little boys are apt to be, and so—but I'm getting ahead of my story."
 "Daddy found a good spot, which looked promising, and settled down with his rod and line to fish, and the little girl found another good spot not far away, and she settled down with her rod and line to fish, and the little boy found another spot near by, and he settled down to fish like the others."
 "But he waited and waited—I think for three minutes—before he pulled in a fish, and then he waited two minutes more, and he didn't get a nibble, and then he moved to another spot, and by and by he got another fish. Then he stopped to watch some squirrels at play, and a naughty fish ate all the bait off his hook when he wasn't looking, and then he moved to another spot."
 "And so it went all the afternoon. I guess that boy tried twenty spots on that bank, and he had only three fish to show for it. He had been watching squirrels, and once he saw a porcupine, but you can't do those things and catch fish."
 "And when the little boy got back to where his daddy and sister were fishing he found that they had each caught a nice paifful of fish, and they hadn't moved much. Daddy had moved just twice and the little girl just once. They had attended right to their fishing."
 "Daddy," said Jack after thinking real hard, "I guess the next time we go fishing I'll do like that boy did, and maybe I'll get a paifful of fish too."

Bridge Germans Must Cross at Samur and High Fort Above It.

These photographs show Namur, one of the Belgian cities around which the soldiers engaged in the European war have fought for several days. To enter the city the Germans must cross the bridge protected by a citadel high on the hill above. It is not, however, believed that this fortification is strong and it may not stand modern guns. Military experts insist that the city must be taken by the Germans before they can continue "their march on to Paris."

EIGHT BIG BANDS TO PLAY AT FAIR

Walter Clauder to Write a March Especially Dedicated to 191 Expo-sition

SEE BEACHEY FLY

Beachey is really the one man who outflies birds.
 Three times each day during the fair, beginning Sept. 15, he will loop-the-loop several times, fly upside down (which a bird cannot do) and volplane, which mean that he will go up 3,000 or 4,000 feet then drop 1,200 feet nearly straight down.
 There isn't any aviator in the world who does half what Beachey does.
 If you see him at the fair you will never regret your trip to the fair.

BAND SCHEDULE.

Monday—Clauder's, Racine.
 Tuesday—Clauder's, Sheboygan, Dodgeville.
 Wednesday—Clauder's, Sheboygan, Madison.
 Thursday—Clauder's, Beloit, Portage.
 Friday—Clauder's, Green Bay.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 11.—There will be plenty of music at the state fair this year. The Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture has contracted for eight bands and one orchestra. An orchestra may seem out of place at a fair, but it is for use in the judging pavilion where band music has been found too heavy. While the judges are awarding prizes an orchestra of nine pieces will be flooding the pavilion with popular airs and classical music.

Clauder's State band will play all of the five days. It includes thirty-five of Milwaukee's best musicians. It is possible that this band will be heard down town each night of the fair week, Sept. 14 to 18.

The largest band engaged is the famous Sheboygan band of fifty-five pieces. This organization was the musical hit of the fair in 1913, and this is why it has been re-engaged for the 1914 fair. The band includes fifty-five men, and it will be at the fair on Tuesday, Milwaukee Day and on Wednesday, State and Governor's Day.

All of the other bands engaged come highly recommended, and they include from twenty-five to thirty-five men. A feature of the fair music this year will be a State Fair march written by Walter Clauder, who has succeeded the late Joseph Clauder as leader of the Clauder band. Mr. Clauder is at work on the march, and it will be played every day at the fair. It will be dedicated to the 1914 state fair.

Another big feature planned is to have all bands on the grounds at a certain hour each afternoon play national airs as one band.

Plans for music down town each night are being made by the Citizens Business league state fair committee. It is the intention of the committee to make Milwaukee each night of fair week a city of light and music.

THE MEDDLER

BY ELLA RANDALL PEARCE

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Advancing uncertainly across the long, softly shaded room into which a white aproned maid had ushered him, Farnol Dwight's face brightened at sight of the waiting figure before him.

"It was kind of you to send for me," he began, and paused, instantly conscious that something was amiss. Now that he was near, he saw that Evelyn Crocker's face was set and unfriendly and her bearing resolutely aggressive.

"I may say at once, Mr. Dwight," came the well remembered low, drawing tones, frosted by an unusual incisiveness, "that it was not my intention to be kind, as you say. I had a sterner purpose in view when I sent that message to you today. Will you be seated?"

So different this from her customary warm graciousness. Dwight stiffly accepted a chair with his eyes fixed inquiringly on his hostess. Evelyn sank gracefully upon a small sofa, pushed a gold colored cushion behind her back and slowly lifted her eyes to his.

"It is a very undesirable role I am taking up," she said with a slight melting of her tones. "I am going to meddle—with your affairs and Cassie's."

"Oh, Cassie!" He let out a full breath of relief and settle back comfortably. Then he laughed lightly. "I was afraid it was something serious—that I had offended you, for instance."

"Mr. Dwight!" Evelyn's indignant advance of one foot was suggestive of a stamping motion. Her blue eyes flashed censoriously. "It is serious. I am offended. Cassie is heart broken." She felt that she had to make the situation as grave as possible. "How can you speak so carelessly—so callously—when you know what I mean? Your last quarrel with Cassie, of course."

"My quarrel with Cassie! Well, let it go at that." The young man drew a patient sigh. "So Cassie has got you to take up the cudgels in her defense, Miss Evelyn?"

She regarded him searchingly with one finger laid upon her lips. Surely no man who looked like that could be either a hypocrite or tyrant. It must be that he did not understand women; that he did not in the least understand capricious, bewitching, tender hearted little Cassie. Well, it should be her stern duty to teach him.

"It is three days since that quarrel, Mr. Dwight, and you have made no attempt to repair the hurt you inflicted. Cassie told me about it that night. She has been like a ghost of herself since, quiet and feverish by turns, hiding her sorrow even from me. When she went out today in a strange mood, staring at me and clinging to me with actual tears in her eyes, I became alarmed. Then I sent for you."

"Where did she go?"

The answer came reluctantly. "To a tango tea," she said.

"Ah, then she's forgotten her sorrow by this time." Dwight twisted his stalwart shoulders, impatiently. "We—er—disagree over her dancing, you know. I objected to Lee Lansing as a perpetual partner, that is all. He began by tangoing with her and ended by being in my way every time I tried to see Cassie."

"But you don't care for dancing," protested Evelyn.

"No. And I don't want the girl who's ensnared to me to be always side-stepping in another man's arms!"

"Oh!" cried Evelyn, shrinking from the vehemence of his tones as much as from his unvarnished speech. This young man with the curving lips and honest, hazel eyes—like a faithful collier—was Evelyn's comparison, could be brutal, after all, she thought. It was perplexing.

"I'll make a bargain with you, Miss Evelyn." Dwight leaned forward ingratiatingly. "We'll never get anywhere if we begin to argue. I'll sit tight and take all the little talk you want to deliver to me, and then you'll listen to me. I'll be fair. Now, go ahead."

He folded his arms and sank back again, solemn almost to comicality. Evelyn had to crush down a wild desire to laugh; then her ire rose again. Was he trying to embarrass her? But, no, his mood seemed receptive; encouraging, one might say, so she spoke freely.

"You and Cassie were engaged when I came here to look after her interests and establish a home for her. But the continuous discords—the bickering, the quarrels and reconciliations. No wonder poor, little Cassie is miserable!"

"Is she miserable?" asked the solemn young man.

"I found her in tears after you had gone that last time," said Evelyn, with reproachful eyes. "She said your jealousy was breaking her heart. She is very young, Mr. Dwight, and she loves her harmless little gayeties. If you would be more tolerant—more comprehensive! I am Cassie's only guardian and her happiness is my first care."

Farnol Dwight, regarded his companion musingly. He was young himself, and Evelyn, for all her superior manner of authority and wisdom—why, Evelyn could not be more than three or four years the senior of frivolous Cassie. Now, her face shone pale in the shadowy room; her eyes gleamed large and lustrous; her delicate lips parted anxiously.

Dwight noticed the quick rise and fall of the rose on her bosom, as he swayed forward in his chair.

"Miss Evelyn, if you weren't so dreadfully in earnest, I should be laughing by this time. You are trying to make me understand the complexities of your cousin's nature, and Cassie is a stranger to you! Now listen; I felt just as you do about her when we were first engaged; but gradually I learned better. Cassie is a charming, aggravating, selfish grown-up young woman. She is a precocious little hypocrite—a feminine tyrant!"

Hypocrite! Tyrant! The very words with which she had assailed her visitor's character, thought Evelyn. They lashed her to her feet, quivering with emotion. Her voice was bitter.

"Mr. Dwight! I see—it is as Cassie said. You want your freedom and you are seeking it at her expense. Why not be honest and end this sad affair? What shall I say to poor Cassie when she returns? Ah, you are smiling—you are laughing at me! And I thought you were such a different sort of man!"

Evelyn's voice was thick. She pressed her lips together and distractedly walked the length of the room; then she faced him imperiously. "I shall tell Cassie to forget you!" she announced with passion.

"I wish she would," returned her caller cheerfully.

Then, while Evelyn was regarding him with horror a tap came on the door. It was the maid with a letter which a messenger had just brought to the house. Evelyn read the scrawled words quickly beneath the switched-on lights.

"Wait, Mr. Dwight! Oh, I don't understand," she gasped; then he sprang to pick up the fluttering paper and to assist Evelyn to her cushions. She was crying softly and repeating, "I don't understand. It can't be true!"

Already at her gesture, Dwight was dashing through the familiar scrawl.

"Dear Coz—When you get this, as the novelists say, I shall be Mrs. Lee Lansing. Will you send my trunk to the Grand Hotel, Washington, D. C., as we are on our way South to visit the 'in-laws.' Trunk's all ready, for I've been planning for this get-away all the week. I would have told you, but you think so well of that gentleman, with the collier eyes that I knew you'd meddle and try to stop me."

"Dear Evelyn, forgive me. It is better so. Anyway, Lee and I have some new dancing stunts that will make the folks down South creep lively. And when we return to town we're going to give public exhibitions. Seriously, sweet Coz, I'm happy."

"Hoping you'll try to be the same, as ever, CASSIE."

"Cassie is married to Lee Lansing, and she is on her way to Washington and wants her trunk," explained Farnol Dwight dryly. "Poor broken-hearted little girl!"

"But such levity—and no regrets!" Evelyn looked bewildered. Then, as she met her companion's deep glance, a flood of color hotly dyed her drooping face. "Oh, I am so sorry I spoke to you as I did just now," she faltered. "But you know. And now;

oh, do you really suppose Cassie is happy?"

"Of course. Don't worry. Lansing isn't a bad chap. I've known for a long time I wasn't the right man. I'm reconciled." Dwight looked at her reflectively. How sweet and appealing she was in her soft, repentant mood! He leaned nearer with a glance that unfolded her with a protective tenderness. "Cassie wants you to be happy," he reminded her. "Can I help you in any way—Evelyn?"

"I believe you can," murmured Evelyn, thrilled by the clearer vision that was dawning. "You understand women so well—Farnol!"

I, Frank H. Burgess, business manager of The La Crosse Tribune, do solemnly swear that the actual number of copies of the paper managed, printed and circulated during the month of July, 1914, was as above stated.Subscribed and sworn to before me
this first day of August, 1914.A. E. BLECKMAN, Notary Public.THEY'LL VOTE
FOR TOM MORRISOver two years ago Governor Mc-Govern said in the course of a conversation that if it ever came to an issue as to which was the political leader of the republican party in Wisconsin, La Follette or himself, he had no doubt as to the outcome. The voters of Wisconsin have just as little doubt, but their answer will not be the answer the governor is looking for.The governor has had a great and unworthy ambition, and that is to down La Follette and take his place in the hearts of Wisconsin voters and in the eye of the nation.It is a great ambition to merit the affection which the "plain people"
(as Lincoln loved to call us) bestow upon "Bob" La Follette. To that end McGovern has in most things been a thoroughly progressive and often aggressive governor. But to wish to embarrass and defeat so great a statesman as La Follette that he might step alone into the spotlight of his state is most unworthy. It is the kind of treachery that clouds his claim to sincerity and devotion to public interest.Governor McGovern is a bull moos-er seeking the support of the republican party. He tried to bull moose the state and failed. Now he asks the republican party to send him to the United States senate.The republican party of Wisconsin never has been particularly foolish and it is not likely to begin now, notwithstanding the fact that Mr.Theodore Kronshage, Governor Mc-Govern's law partner, told the tried and true Tom Morris that they (the bull moosers masquerading as republicans) were going to rip the republican party right in half.They attempted to start the rip at the last national republican convention at Chicago.McGovern went to that convention as a delegate-at-large. In accepting that commission he knew it was his duty to stand with the Wisconsin delegates and work to the end for the nomination of Bob La Follette.The delegates voted to stand as a unit to advance the name of La Follette.The Roosevelt forces were acquainted with McGovern's ambitions.
The only real opponent Roosevelt had among the progressive republicans was La Follette. Could they capture the governor of his state?They would support him for chairman—to elect him would be a Roosevelt victory and a La Follette defeat. Back of such a victory was the possible vice presidency. McGovern forgot his duty to the Wisconsin republicans who had made him governor and who had sent him to that convention to work for La Follette.He deserted La Follette defiantly to cast his fortunes with T. R.McGovern cannot explain his position. He has tried to. He is trying desperately to explain it now, but it doesn't explain. He dodged his duty, played a treacherous trick and now asks the republicans of Wisconsin to send him to the United States senate.Will they do it? Not much. They will send Lieutenant Governor Tom Morris, one of the ablest and truest progressive statesmen Wisconsin has developed in recent years.—Wisconsin State Journal.M'CONNELL, FOOT-LOOSE,
THE RIGHT ASSEMBLYMANIn the few days intervening before the primary election September first citizens should devote themselves seriously to consideration of the legislative ticket. Ability, experience, personal attitude and relations with interests affected by legislation are factors that should help determine choice. Measure the men.In the republican primary the issue is between J. E. McConnell and Carl Kurtenacker. Note that it is Carl Kurtenacker, secretary of the Gund Brewing company, and not K. G.
Kurtenacker, as some have erroneously assumed.We believe Mr. McConnell should have the preference. He has had valuable experience as a legislator,
and his record challenges fair criticism. He has no public utility or other special interest affiliations, nor is he interested in corporations having private interest in labor or other legislation to serve which, instead of the whole public, his connections would impel him. He has been open, fair and a faithful worker.We advise republicans to talk with Mr. McConnell. That is the best way to get at the kind of man he is.
We urge his record, which later we shall publish, as in itself a conclusive argument for his nomination.There is no squarer, broader record of thoughtful and business-like public service to be found in the history of the Wisconsin assembly.SEE THE HIGH SCHOOL

Awful to Contemplate

A well known evangelist one day called on Abraham Lincoln. After a hard day the president was lying stretched out on a couch.In the course of the conversation the evangelist said:"Mr. Lincoln, it has always seemed a remarkable thing to me, that, considering the circumstances and conditions under which you were brought up, you never acquired the drinking habit."The president smiled, and then lifting up one of his long legs and slowly waving it from side to side, said:"Heavens, just think of those things tangled up with whisky."

What He Could Do

"Don't you think you could do something with that orchestra to improve my song?" asked the lady soloist."What's the matter with it?" asked the orchestra leader.
"Why, they could hardly hear my song for that drum.""Well, we can put in a couple more drums."

A Temperance Lesson

"I" said the temperance man,
"strongly object to the custom of christening ships with champagne.""I don't," replied the other man.
"I think there's a temperance lesson in it.""How can that be?"
"Well, immediately after the first bottle of wine the ship takes to water and sticks to it ever after."

head when about a year old began to break out with small watery pimples causing her head to itch. She would scratch her head till the blood came causing the top of her head to be in almost a solid eruption.
The pimples at first were nearly as large as a pea and in patches which would inflame and fester and when they would come open would leave a kind of wet scales there for a few days.
Then when it dried up it would leave scales
on her head that caused her hair to fall out just in great bunches."Her head was this way for nearly a month and I had washed her head with different kinds of soap and used different salves but to no success. One day I happened to see Cuticura Soap and also Cuticura Ointment advertised in a paper and I ordered a sample of each. They seemed to help her head so much that I purchased a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Oint-

sound and well. Her hair had stopped falling out and was also free from dandruff."

there that it is known that Uhlans have been moving in the general di-

"I guess," he said, stopping to lean on his spade, as he stared at the mountain, "the earth just got too full of granite and bled over,
but was keefer to spew it upwards,
so's to have as much ground as it could, while relieving its feelings."
I'm glad I'm safe in Christiania."Presently the earth on his blade began to cling from dampness.
"When I digs a well," he remarked
boastfully, "what I want is water, and that's what I gets. As soon as it's deep enough I'll wall her up with rocks and take the longest drink that man ever pulled off, that is to say, when it was nothing but common water. They ain't nothing about water to incite you to keep swallowing when you have enough.
Of a sudden you just naturally leggo and could drown in it without wanting another drop. That's because it's nature. Art is different. I reckon a nice clean drinking-joint and a full-stocked bar is about the highest art that can stimulate a man. But in nature, you know when you've got enough."After further digging he added,
"And I got about enough of this! I mean the mountains and the plains and the sand and the wind and the cave and the cove!" he wiped away
the dripping sweat and looked at the sun. "Yes, and of you, too!"
He dropped the spade, and sat down on the heap of dirt. "Oh, Lord, but I'm lonesome! I got plenty to say, but nobody to listen at me."He clasped his great hands about his knee, and stared sullenly at the surrounding ramparts of red and brown granite, dully noting the fantastic layers, the huge round stones that for ages had been about to roll down into the valley but had never started, and others cut in odd shapes placed one upon another in columns along the perpendicular wall. The sun beat on the long matted hair of his bare head, but the ceaseless wind brought relief from its peltering rays. He, however, was conscious neither the heat nor of the refreshing touch.At last he rose slowly to his towering legs and picked up his spade.
"You're a fool, Brick Willock," he said harshly. "Ain't you got that well to dig? And then can't you go for your kaig and bring it here, and carry it back full of fresh water?
Dinged if there ain't enough doings in your world to furnish out a daily newspaper!" He began to dig, adding in an altered tone:
"And Brick, he says—'Nothing ain't come to the worst, as long as you're living,' says Brick."He was proud of the well when it was completed; the water was cold and soft as it oozed up through clean sand, and the walls of mudmortised rocks promised permanency. One did not have to penetrate far into the bottom lands of that cove to find water which for unnumbered years had rushed down
the mountainside in time of rain-storms to lie, a vast underground reservoir, for the coming of man.
Willock could reach the surface of the well by lying on his stomach and scooping with his long arm. He duly carried out this program, and when the keg was filled with fresh water it was time for dinner.After a cold luncheon of boiled ham and baker's bread, he returned to the cove, where he idled away the afternoon under the shade of tall cedar trees whose branches came down to the ground, forming impenetrable pyramids of green.Stretched out on the short buffalo-grass he watched the white flecks follow one another across the sky;
he observed the shadows lengthening
from the base of the western arm of the horseshoe till they threatened to swallow up him and his bright speck of world; he looked and languidly
after the flights of birds, and grinned as he saw the hawks dart into round holes in the granite wall not much larger than their bodies—
those mysterious holes perforating
the precipice, seemingly bored there by a giant auger."Go to bed, pard," he called to the hawks. "I reckon it's time for me too!" He got up—the sun had disappeared behind the mountain.
He stretched himself, lifting his arms high above his head and slowly drawing his fists to his shoulders.
His elbows luxuriously crooked.
"One thing I got," he observed, "is the contents of his granite house, moving to the task with conscientious slowness, stopping a dozen times to make excursions into the outside world. By diligent economy of his working moments, he succeeded in covering almost two weeks in the labor of putting his house in to order. His bedroom was next to the barricade that separated the long stone excavation from the bottomless abyss. Divided from the bedroom by an imaginary line, was the storeroom of provisions. The

the floor with methodical exactitude.
Different varieties of fruit and pre-

day begins my apple days. I judge
I can worm myself down through the list by this time next month.
One thing I am sot on; not to save nothing if I can bring my stomach to carry the burden with a willing hand. I'll eat mild and calm, but steadfast. Brick Willock he says:
'Better starve all at once, when there's nothing left than starve a little every day,' says Brick. 'When it's a matter of agony,' says Brick,
'take the short cut.'"In arranging his retreat he had left undisturbed the wagon tongue, since removing it from the end of the floor for a more secure barricade; it had stood with several of the sideboards against the wall, as if Brick mediated using them for a special purpose.
Such indeed was his plan, and it added some zest to his present employment to think of what he meant to do next; this was nothing less than to make a dugout in the cove.

Learn to Write Well.

First legibility; second, sightliness, should be the endeavor in handwriting and let the "character" and the "individuality" take care of themselves. If you wish to devise a signature hard to forge, that is another thing; but one's every-day handwriting should be plain and as good-looking as one can make it. The art of writing a neat, legible, well-punctuated, correctly expressed and spelled letter should belong to every high-school graduate, much more to every college graduate; and the thanks of the community are due to those who are testing and trying to improve our methods of education; but they must remember that the letter-style is properly more loose and conversational than any other, and therefore should not be criticized in just the same way.

SECOND CHOICE TO ELECT GOVERNOR SAYS LA FOLLETTE

No Candidate May Receive a Majority of All the First Choice Votes He Declares

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Under the caption, "How to Settle Philipp's Dust," Senator La Follette in an editorial today urges progressive voters to use the second choice at the primaries September 1. He points out that there are six candidates for governor on the republican ticket and that five of them will draw progressive support.

"One candidate will get the solid reactionary vote," declares Senator La Follette. "The special interests have a compact, easily controlled crowd. This crowd is going to vote, to a man, for their candidate. And they think they are going to slip through this time because the progressive vote will be scattered, in varying degree among the other five candidates. But will they? They cannot if the voters only think to mark their second choice on principle when they cast their votes."

Use Second Choice He Says Senator La Follette then points out that it is possible that no candidate will receive a majority of all the first choice votes cast. He shows how the candidates are eliminated and calls public attention to the fact that "a voter's second choice is never counted until his first choice candidate is completely out of the running."

"If use is made of the second choice the number of candidates become largely immaterial," continues the senator. "If the voters vote for principle, the individual voter will exercise his first choice for the candidate representing his principles and most fit, in his opinion, for the office, and will exercise his second choice for the candidate representing the same principles and who, in his judgment, is next best qualified for the position, the voice of all of the progressive voters will thus be registered in behalf of progressive candidates and in the final result the actual majority of the votes between progressivism and standpatism will determine whether a progressive or a standpat candidate is to be the nominee. A reactionary candidate cannot get the republican nomination in Wisconsin if the voters make it their business to use the second choice."

TRAVELER LECTURER ON WILD ANIMALS

Tonight's performance at the Bijou theater will close Luman C. Mann's engagement of two days there. Mr. Mann has been lecturing on wild animals and showing his mile of motion pictures, taken on a tour of the entire world. Crowds have gathered at the theater.

Duke of Northumberland. Henry George Percy, seventh duke of Northumberland, is the largest landowner in England. His estates stretch almost from sea to sea, and he can ride 100 miles and not once leave his own domain. In appearance he is tall and thin, with reddish hair and flowing whiskers. To Americans it will be interesting to note that James Smithson, who bequeathed the sum of $506,000 to establish the Smithsonian institution at Washington, was a great-uncle of the present duke of Northumberland.

NORTH SIDE

NELSONS WALLOP OLD TIME CHAMPS

Naps Lose Playoff in North Side Indoor League; Nelsons Meet the Imperials

By a score of 3 to 0, the Nelsons last evening took the championship of the North Side Indoor Baseball league from the Naps, who until the last were strong contenders for the title.

The game last night was a playoff of the tie game played by the two teams Tuesday evening, the score being 3 to 3 at the end of five innings. It was thought by many that the Naps would come back and defeat the leaders, but the pitching of Knutson proved their greatest stumbling block last night.

Probably never before in the history of the indoor game in this city has a team made the remarkable showing against heavy odds as has the Naps. The start of the season predicted nothing for the Napoleons, but the close saw them close at the heels of the leaders.

As for the spectacular playing of the Nelsons not enough can be said. They have played a consistent game throughout, losing only one game, that to the Combinations, now cellar ornaments.

The game last night was featured by the mound work of both Knutson and Casperson, both pitchers allowing but two hits. With one out and Lafser on base, the result of a walk, Clow hammered out a homer. The other score came in the Nelsons' half of the second when Swennes walked, stole second and third and scored.

Pitcher Casperson of the Naps was the only man to solve the delivery of Knutson, getting two of the hits of the game. He died on third both times.

The city championship series will begin Sunday when the Nelsons meet the Imperials, champs of the South side, at Copeland park. The game will be called at 2:30.

The score of yesterday's game: Nelsons 21000—3 Naps 00000—0 Batteries: Knutson and Lafser; Casperson and Casperson; umpires, Larson and Bradish.

SPOTLIGHTS

"THE SPOILERS"

Beginning at the La Crosse theater Tuesday afternoon, 2:30, one of the greatest pictures produced in recent years, entitled "The Spoilers," will be seen. This picture is now running at the Studebaker theater, Chicago, and has been pronounced one of the greatest of modern film productions. That popular motion picture favorite, Kathryn Williams, as the leading feminine role, and William Farnum, one of the greatest romantic actors of the present day, plays Roy Glenister, the manly hero.

The picture tells the vivid story of the struggle in the Alaskan gold fields and is said to follow the book of Rex Beach very closely.

Some power of the primitive throbs in every real man's breast, responsive to the call of contest, a natural fact that accounts for the perpetual popularity of combat. While wrestling bouts, boxing matches and prize fights have found their way on films, they retire to the shadow in the face of a real fight that marks one of the big, fierce and vital chapters of "The Spoilers." While Roy Glenister is a strenuous person, he curbs his disposition to openly meet and overthrow the nagging, scheming McNamara—the imminent cause of his ruin—until the psychological moment. Disregarding all restraint that has kept him from laying hands upon his enemy, he declares he will break him with his hands, and desecrating his revolver, scornfully to fight an aphorism, "neither God nor law exists north of 53," he enters the clinch with savage joy. The gun play in the streets of Nome, the ready resort to the good right arm to settle disputes, the tense and feverish crowds that hang over the gambling tables, where fortunes in dust were swept away in a single night's play, all have their part in this big drama of realities.

This picture will be shown twice daily. It consists of nine reels and occupies two and one-half hours' time. The matinees will begin at 2:15 and the evening performances at 8:15.

VIADUCT BUILDERS WILL SOON FINISH

With the completion of the concrete work on the south piers of the new Rose street viaduct and the advance of work on the approaches of the bridge, residents of the North side are looking forward to the speedy completion of the project. All that now remains to be done is the construction of the north piers before work can be commenced on the steel span across the Milwaukee tracks.

Both approaches are nearing completion, much of the concrete retaining walls being already built. At the beginning of the work, it was predicted by the engineers in charge that the bridge would be completed in approximately four months. As more than two months have already elapsed it follows that the big work is more than half completed.

JANET MARTNER IS HOME FROM EUROPE

Prairie du Chien Resident Arrives Safely After Exciting Experiences on the Continent

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Aug. 22.—Miss Janet Martner arrived safely home this week from a summer of European travel.

When war was declared between Germany and Russia, Miss Martner and her traveling companion, a young lady, were in Hamburg, Germany. They left immediately for London, the journey taking twenty-four hours. The trains in Germany and Holland were very crowded and uncomfortable, and nowhere during the twenty-four hours was it possible to procure anything to eat.

Arriving in London the young ladies had only German paper money, which was not acceptable anywhere and American checks which could not be cashed owing to the date being a bank holiday followed by Sunday.

But for meeting an American acquaintance they would have been very unfortunately embarrassed for current coin for several days.

The trip from England to New York was made in the steerage of a much overcrowded boat. Many of the returning tourists had lost all their baggage and personal belongings before leaving the continent.

Miss Martner luckily had her baggage safely preserved and except for the temporary discomforts and inconvenience of the journey is none the worse for her unusual experience.

Mrs. Henry Enlberg of Garnaville is here to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Bittner, accompanied by her sister, Miss Adella, who has been staying in Garnaville this vacation.

C. F. Klegin arrived home Wednesday afternoon from a business trip through Iowa.

Messrs. and Mesdames W. B. Tarr, F. A. Bull and W. E. Martner, Miss Mabel Sweeney and Miss Marjorie Bull leave Friday for a trip down the great lakes to Niagara Falls and return by steamer.

Mrs. Carlisle, matron of the Prairie du Chien sanatorium, spent Sunday at her home in La Crosse.

Emmanuel Rod is taking a vacation from his duties as clerk at the Crawford County bank, and left on Monday to spend a week in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Anna Walker is in Montana visiting her son, R. O. Walker.

James Wallace of Chicago is a guest at the Cecka home.

PERSONALS

Good time at moonlight excursion Monday, Aug. 24, 8:30, Barge Mississippi. L. A. C. B. club.

Mrs. E. M. Fuller and daughter have returned from a short visit in Madison.

Due to the sudden drop of the Mississippi in the past few weeks, the steamer St. Paul, from St. Louis to St. Paul docked at the La Crosse harbor this morning 9 hours late. A difficulty was encountered when the steamer left the shore for up river, and it was found the channel had slightly changed. The wagon bridge was reopened to let the steamer drift down should she have to.

License to marry was issued in the county clerk's office this morning to Miss Catherine Mary Kindheimer and Alfred Lassig.

Alfred Lassig is a resident of La Crosse. His bride-to-be is from the town of Campbell. Another license was issued to Alfred Bjorkman and Miss Hazel Menzeld, both of the town of Burns. The marriage will take place within a week.

Mrs. Emma Fema, bound over to the circuit court on a statutory charge, was released today on bonds of $500 from the county jail. Her case will come up before Judge E. C. Higbee in the November term of circuit court.

H. L. Taylor, 804 King street, is remodeling his residence into a two apartment house. The work will be completed in about a month.

Walter D. Bab, 310 South Ninth street, is remodeling his dwelling. A full basement has been built and a furnace installed. A galvanized roof is being added and the interior walls decorated. New window openings have been inserted in the second story.

Mrs. L. Ofterdinger and daughters, Mrs. Bertha Gilbertson and Mildred Ofterdinger, who have been guests of Mrs. John Banker, 1633 Badger street, have returned to their home in Chicago.

A check for the amount of $3,562.61 was received yesterday by County Treasurer W. G. Garbers from the state treasurer, as La Crosse county's share of receipts from automobile licenses for 1914. This amount is $1,089 more than the amount received in 1913. The communication coming with the check did not state the number of automobiles in the state, nor the entire amount of the receipts, which would allow an accounting.

Superintendent D. C. Dewey of the La Crosse Rescue Mission left the city today for Lake Winona, Ind., where he will attend a Bible conference. Bible students from all over the country gather at Lake Winona each year. A chalet is in session at the same time, affording those in attendance a chance to hear addresses and witness other sights which they would otherwise be unable to.

"At one time he had a sort of movable sentry box constructed for his use in court in order to prevent any possibility of a draft. He once expressed his preference for suffocation rather than chill on the ground that it was a slower death.—London Standard.

La Crosse High School Alumni News

HOWARD C. JONES, Editor.

Ricker, Racker,
Fire Cracker!
Zip! Boom! Bah!
L.-C.-H.-S.
Rah! Rah! Rah!

Through the courtesy of The La Crosse Tribune, it has become possible to establish an alumni column which will prove of exceptional interest to the members of the 38 classes graduated from the LaCrosse high school. The column is to be conducted by the Alumni Association of the high school, and will be for the present under the direction of the chairman of the committee on membership, Howard M. Jones, '10.

The benefits of such a feature, appearing regularly every week, are many. In the first place it gives opportunity to collect in one place notes of interest regarding the activities of alumni of the La Crosse high school wherever they happen to be. It should also be a place in which to center the work of the membership committee of the association, affording a means of seeking information regarding graduates not yet located by the committee. It is the best possible means of informing the members of the association of what the officers and committees are doing and finally it should offer opportunity for the alumni themselves to give bits of interesting information regarding the history of the high school and its graduates.

The editor of the column requests especially that the alumni, particularly the older classes, send him all the information they obtain about their classmates. It is only by the co-operation of many persons that the column will reach its maximum usefulness. Members should not feel backward about contributing their own reminiscences of the high school and their classmates; they should feel that this is their column, and that the support of it rests quite as much upon their shoulders as upon the editor.

Information and letters intended for this space should be sent to the editor, either at his home, 1632 Ferry street, or care of The Tribune.

THE ASSOCIATION Officers

President, Miss Helen Dorset, '91, 330 South Sixth street.

Vice-president, Horace K. Holley, '04, 230 South Eighth street.

Secretary, Mrs. H. M. Curtis, '94, 1108 State street.

Treasurer, Ray L. Dickinson, '06, 1402 Vine street.

Membership committee: Howard M. Jones, '10, chairman; Miss Edna E. Walker, '89, 1117 State street; A. M. Brayton, '93, 1924 Cass street.

The president and the members of the committee on membership are at present busy recording the names and addresses of alumni. About 400 names are now definitely placed; there are over 1,000 graduates, however, and the committee feels its work is only beginning. The registry of alumni is intended to be at the service of anyone desiring to locate former students and classmates. If the address is on the list, the committee will be glad to furnish it upon inquiry.

When the records are once in final shape, the committee will have a number of interesting things to say about them.

ALUMNI

The recent appointment of William A. Frechhoff, '10, to be field editor of The Wisconsin Agriculturist, the headquarters of which are at Racine, is another step in Bill's literary career. (The writer is his classmate and can call him Bill with impunity.) Bill—to repeat the familiarity—was the first editor of The Booster, and we have still in our possession the modest brown pamphlet numbered Vol. 1 No. 1. At the University of Wisconsin he served for a time as editor-in-chief of The Wisconsin Country Magazine, the student publication of the College of Agriculture, and his articles on farm topics have appeared in such standard agricultural periodicals as The Country Gentleman, Hoard's Dairyman, Farm and Fireside, etc. Bill runs a newly-acquired farm at Waukesha, Wisconsin, with Lester Stam ("Les" Stam) also '10, to help him.

The present European mix-up has affected the plans of a number of alumni. Hattie Anderson, Esther Stavrum and Alice Borreson, all '04 people, were just getting clear as I write. Arthur Gelatt, '10, when last heard from was in Sweden, and Mrs. Louis W. Austin (Laura A. Osborne, '93) is supposed to have sailed on the Finland with her husband for New York. Mr. Austin, as I understand it, was sent abroad to study the workings of wireless telegraphy at Paris and Berlin, but his visit came to an abrupt close. Younger graduates may not remember that he was at one time Professor Austin of the University of Wisconsin.

Recent marriages—every alumni column has its marriages, and though some of these are old stories now, they ought to be recorded somewhere—include that of Ben A.

SOCIETY

PRE-NUPTIAL ENTERTAINMENT

Miss Florence Bechman entertained a dozen young ladies last evening in honor of Miss Helen Gantert, whose wedding is to take place next month.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. M. H. Wittland, 1407 Avon street, entertained a party of little folks Tuesday in honor of the second anniversary of her son Tyson. Games and music helped to entertain the little folks. A delicious lunch was served. The table decorations consisted of pink and white and a huge birthday cake with two candles. Those present were Tyson Wittland, Kenneth Jones, Evelyn Burke, Ruth Faas, Ollie Bottaher, Elsie Anderson, George Yehle, Charles Bottaher, Gregory Yehle, Maynard Anderson. The assisting ladies were Mesdames A. Yehle, C. Bottaher, J. Anderson, E. Jones, I. Messall and Mrs. Wolf of Mount Ayre, Iowa.

AFTERNOON AT HURTGEN COTTAGE

Thursday afternoon a party of ladies motored to the Hurtgen cottage at Eagle Bluff, where they spent a delightful time. A picnic supper was served.

VOIDING ORDER

Bell Telephone Company to Sue for Injunction Restraining Physical Connection

To prevent the enforcement of the physical connection order issued yesterday by the Wisconsin railway commission, the Wisconsin Telephone company will file suit for an injunction in the circuit court of Dane county.

Attorney Frank Winter, through whose efforts the order was issued, said this afternoon that he had received word that this was the plan of the Wisconsin subsidiary of the Bell Telephone company.

That suit would be brought against Mr. Winter along with the suit against the railway commission, was also learned this afternoon.

The telephone company will assert that the law is confiscatory and will hurt their business.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

(By J. W. T. Mason.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—11 a. m.—The appearance of German skirmishers at Audenarde, an astonishing adventure, coming only a few hours after the capture of Brussels. It is a move of possible great significance, indicating the general German staff has under consideration the dangerous expedient of moving westward from Brussels to the north of the position of the allies.

This is the route the German army should have followed had there been no interruption at the Meuse river. The line of march runs almost due west from the Belgian frontier to Brussels and continues in a straight line to Audenarde. Here the main road turns to the southwest and proceeds to the frontier gap northwest of Lille, where the march over French soil to Paris was planned to begin.

If the allies have done nothing to block this route it may go hard with them. They will have to face about, if as generally is believed, their position looks toward the east. And turning a defensive front is a difficult military maneuver.

Antwerp is too far away to seriously threaten the flank of a German northern advance, if it extends no further north than the line from

MORRIS COMMENDS THE METROPOLITAN

Says Insurance Company Is Doing Much for the Betterment of All Humanity

THREE THOUSAND HEAR HIM SPEAK

Employees and Policy Holders from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa at Myrick Park Today

That the Metropolitan Insurance company, by its children's insurance, is accomplishing much for the betterment of humanity, was the assertion of Lieut. Governor Thomas Morris, candidate for the United States senate, in addressing over 3,000 employees and policy holders of that company, picnicking at Myrick park this afternoon.

The crowd was composed of people from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, the major portion coming from the Badger state.

"The thing that may be truthfully said about the Metropolitan is that it supplies an economic need furnished by no other insurance company, in that it insures a class of people as, for instance, children who are unable to secure insurance in other companies. The old line insurance companies meet the needs of those who are able to expend considerable sum annually for insurance protection.

Meets a Big Need.

"The assessment insurance companies meet the needs of those who are able to carry lodge insurance, but the Metropolitan while it includes all of those, reaches down to and includes another class that would otherwise be unable to secure insurance at all.

"In other words, the Metropolitan is a great cosmopolitan institution, fitted to the needs of all classes of citizens, including child protection, and in this respect is unique.

Doing Good Work.

"It has done and is doing and will continue to do in the future a work of prime sociological need which entitles it to the support and good will of everyone who wants to see the world grow better and who desires to see the condition of the average man, woman and child, improved. It is to be hoped that our people will more and more come to realize what they have in this institution. When its worth and merit are generally understood and appreciated, the volume of business will increase immensely and the result of good will be felt in every home in the land."

If some people should ever swallow their pride they would choke to death.

been completed for the establishment of hospitals at fifty different points. It was announced at the same time that the war office has been flooded with offers of private buildings.

Just where these private hospitals have been established is not yet announced but it is known a number of old English estates in the north of England and along the sea shore have been fitted up and corps of doctors from the medical reserve are now in attendance.

The Times military expert in discussing the movement of the Germans says there is little doubt that the German armies are being hurled at the gap between Mons and Charleroi. He then says:

"It is certain many of the troops at Brussels were perfectly fresh. They are an important part of that vast army which Germany for fifteen days has effectively screened behind her desperate fighting forces. This army is destined to be hurled into France."

Great Battle Now Raging

"There is no doubt that a great battle is raging. Of its outcome depends everything. If the Germans gain the advantage, the allies will have to form along their second line well inside of the French frontier. If the allies win then, the Germans must fall back, facing the fire of the Namur and Liege forts which are still held by the Belgians. The situation is very critical and the public must not expect too much."

TEXT MEETINGS

Evangelistic meetings will be held in the tent, corner of Jackson and Fourteenth streets, Sunday at 3:30 p. m. and at 8 o'clock in the evening. Meetings will also be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock. Rev. R. J. Berge of Minneapolis will speak and P. A. Silverstrom of Chicago will have charge of the singing.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

BELGIUM—Germans hold line through Brussels, Ghent to Ostend, and are moving southward toward the French frontier in enormous masses. Majority of Belgian army is behind Antwerp fortifications. Namur is being besieged by Germans while main army passes south along both sides of the Meuse. General Lemont, heroic defender of Liege, is a German prisoner of war. Absolutely no information is obtainable of the whereabouts of the allied armies. Germans have levied war tax of $52,000,000 on Brussels, Liege province and city.

FRANCE—The Germans have assumed the offensive in Alsace and a strong German army is within five miles of Mulhausen, while another German force is moving along the Swiss frontier in an attempt to flank the French army from Belfort. The war office admits the French offensive movement in Lorraine has come to an end and the army has been compelled to retire before a superior force of Germans. The French are now believed to have retired to the Vosges passes and the movement against Strassburg and Metz is at least deferred.

ENGLAND—War bureau issues statement explaining situation, characterizing it as "satisfactory" and declaring that the fighting to date has not been in any way decisive.

RUSSIA—War office says that invasion of entire German-Austrian frontier is well in progress with Russian army in force now moving forward inside of the enemy's territory. Russian aviators have been very useful in dropping bombs on fortified German positions.

SERBIA—Officials say that Serbians defeated Austrians in a 25 mile long battle lasting three days. The Serbian reports claim the Austrians lost 25,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners.

GERMANY—Reports of taking Brussels caused great rejoicing through Germany. War office remains mute regarding plans.

JAPAN—Japanese fleet with army on transports reported as ready to strike against German colony of Kiao Chau so soon as ultimatum expires at noon on Sunday.

ITALY—Reported that orders for complete mobilization of Italian army, including home defense reserve, is ready for signature. Austria has not yet replied to the demand of Italy for an explanation of the reported arming of Albanians against Serbia.

LONDON ASSERTS THE CITIZENS OF LIEGE ARE IN BAD STRAITS

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The position of the Belgian inhabitants of Liege is reported to be desperate. The Germans have demolished a score of houses in the Quai Percheurs with artillery, killing and wounding many of the inhabitants, as a reprisal for the shooting of a Uhlan from one of the houses. In addition reports received today confirm the levying of a war tax, the Germans demanding $10,000,000 from the province of Liege and $2,000,000 from the city. It is stated that the inhabitants have protested their inability to pay this sum on the ground that they now have no money and no means of raising any.

GERMAN SEIZURE OF PORT CAUSES BRITISH TO WORRY

Liege has aroused the greatest indignation in British circles. All of the morning and this afternoon's newspapers denounce the action and declare that it "savours of piracy." The Daily News, however, while denouncing the levy as "monstrous" says Germany may technically have the right to impose this levy.

That the war office believes stern work is already confronting the army now operating on the continent is best shown by the announcement that all arrangements have

WILSON REFUSES TO MIX U. S. IN ORIENTAL CRISIS

is mobilized and is now at a rendezvous near the Shan Tung peninsula. With the fleet is reported to be a large army on transports, nearly every man of whom is a veteran of the Russo-Japanese war. There is now no question in Tokio that Germany will resist to the last. The Japanese officials know that the entire fortifications of the German concessions have been reinforced. Coolies have been working night and day for a month.

The Germans are expected to put up a desperate resistance both by land and by sea. Ever since the ultimatum was served the German cruisers have been preparing for action and, although far outnumbered are expected to attempt a raid on the Japanese the moment the latter open hostilities.

There has been no excitement whatever in Tokio. The German embassy attaches are reported to have everything packed up in readiness to proceed to the United States when war actually is declared. It is the intention of the Germans to turn their affairs over to the United States ambassador when they leave Japan.

It is also reported here that all of the official documents and funds of German Samoa have been transferred to the bank in American Samoa.

Up to the present time there is no indication that the Japanese offensive plans consider any further operations than the taking of Kiao Chau.

The Chinese government is very much alarmed over the outlook because of the danger of anti-Japanese outbreaks at various centers when Tokio acts. The fear is that Japan has designs on Chinese territory, and her protestations that she intends to turn over the Kiao Chau concessions to China is not accepted as final.

BOY CAMPERS RETURN.

After a few days' camp at Dresbach, eight boys of the Boys' club of the Universalist church returned last night to their homes in the city. The boys, who were under the care of Rev. George R. SPENCER WISHART KILLED IN RACE

Noted Driver's Chest Is Crushed When Racing Car Plunges Into Tree

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 22.—Ralph De Palma, driving the Mercedes with which he yesterday won the Chicago Automobile club classic, this afternoon won the Elgin national race. Clarence Pullen was second and Barney Oldfield third. De Palma made better time today than he did yesterday.

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 22.—Spencer Wishart, New York automobile driver, died this afternoon from injuries he received in the Elgin national trophy race here today.

Wishart was trying to pass Henning in another Mercer when the accident occurred. The hub cap of his left front wheel struck Henning's car and Wishart's Mercer, speeding at 100 miles an hour, leaped 25 feet into the air and, plunging on 100 feet, crashed into a tree.

His chest was crushed, four ribs protruding from his body and his left leg broken.

Mechanic John Janter's left arm was nearly severed from his body. It was stated at the hospital that he will recover. Five spectators sustained injuries.

SEARCH FOR NINE YEAR OLD BOY LOST IN THE CITY

The police are today searching for Frank, aged 9, the son of Ben Johnson, Minnesota farmer, who wandered through the city today and who has not been seen since he left the Wisconsin house, a South Third street hotel.

"Take me to La Crosse. I've never been to the city and all my brothers have," he petitioned his father this morning.

His father granted his request. Important business to transact, he left him at the Wisconsin House bar, owned by Fred Gschwindt, formerly the property of Fred Wehr.

When he returned the boy was gone.

COSTS MONEY TO RIDE ON TRAIN

Officials of railroads here running through Minnesota have not been notified of the general rise of 50 per cent in all interstate passenger fares on the railroad centering in Minnesota, which may result from the order upholding the rate in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri, issued a few days ago by the interstate commerce commission.

Passenger traffic officials are waiting for the complete terms of the decision before announcing what action they will take, but it was declared that if the order of the commission is correctly reported by the dispatches, there is no doubt that a rise will follow on the lines of the Western Passenger association.

PASS SILVER BILL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—By a vote of 39-11, the senate this afternoon passed the Smoot silver purchase bill. This bill provides for purchase at the discretion of the treasury of 15,000,000 ounces of silver at a price not to exceed the average from January 15 to June 15.

The bill was passed after a long debate.

The Dutch government has made application to the treasury department for a large quantity of silver bullion. Senator Smoot said today. McAdoo referred the Dutch government's representatives to the American Smelting & Refining company.

Sometimes the man of the hour lasts about that long.

WEATHER

Temperatures yesterday:
High, 83.
Low, 61.
Precipitation, 0.
Forecast for La Crosse and vicinity: Unsettled weather with probably local showers tonight and Sunday. Somewhat higher temperature tonight; cooler by Sunday.

For Wisconsin: Unsettled weather tonight and Sunday; probably local showers and thunderstorms; somewhat higher temperatures south and east portion tonight; cooler west portion tonight; cooler west portion Sunday.

For Minnesota: Probably showers or thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight; Sunday fair west, showers east portion. Warmer extreme south-east portion tonight; cooler Sunday.

Weather Conditions

The pressure is high east of the Mississippi river, the weather generally clear, and the temperature somewhat lower at most stations. An area of moderately low pressure, central in North Dakota and the adjacent Canadian territory has caused local showers and thunderstorms in the northern plains states, with somewhat higher temperature.

This low will cause unsettled weather in this section tonight and Sunday and local showers and thunderstorms are probable. There will be no decided change in temperature.

STRUCTURAL STEEL SOARING UPWARD HURTS BUILDING

Rise of $2 a Ton Is Reported by W. J. Torrance and Prospect Is for Still Greater Advance

The price in structural steel in La Crosse today is approximately $2 per ton higher than one month ago, at the beginning of the war scare.

Despite this fact, La Crosse county today let contracts for a large number of bridges requiring structural steel in their erection at a smaller price than at this time last year.

W. J. Torrance, of the Torrance & Sons foundry here, said this morning that due to a scarcity of magnesium, one of the ingredients of structural steel, the price has taken a jump along with food commodities and is expected to go higher as the war continues.

In the last three weeks magnesia has gone up in price from $36 to $72 a ton.

Magnesia Comes from Russia.

Magnesia comes from Russia, Mr. Torrance said this morning, and the supply in the United States is limited. The highest raise has been made by the United States Steel corporation at Pittsburg, Pa., and the smaller companies have raised their prices, although not as greatly.

Mr. Torrance has been in direct communication with representatives of the big steel companies of the east. They informed him the outlook was serious.

Contracts aggregating approximately $124,153 were let by the county today.

The following firms were awarded the work: H. Roechler; Kippel Brothers; Hennepin Bridge company; J. Rarchel; La Crosse Steel Construction company; Whitewater Bridge company; Clinton Bridge company; A. B. Wingo company; the Warden-Albin company; F. Fritsch company, and the Continental Bridge company.

War Bulletins

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Charge Haimhausen of the German embassy, stated to the United Press this afternoon that, via New York, he had received news that "the German forces have gained an important victory between Metz and the Vosges mountains." He said no further details were received.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Japan's ultimatum to Germany expires at ten o'clock tonight New York time. It was stated at the Japanese embassy this afternoon. At that hour it is noon Sunday in Tokio and four o'clock Sunday morning in Berlin. At noon today the Japanese embassy here had no intimation of Germany's reply.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The official war bureau, in a statement analyzing the situation to date, says:

"Neither side can claim to have gained what could be called a decisive victory. The French have steadily continued to gain ground in Alsace. The Germans have obliged a large portion of the Belgian army to retire on Antwerp. But the big problems of the present war are still unsolved. The preliminary skirmishing is simply a prelude to the larger task when the main armies meet."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The United States today notified the German embassy here that diplomatic code messages could be sent from the Saville, Long Island, German being censored. Before accepting wireless station to Germany without this ruling of the administration, Charge Von Haimhausen endeavored to communicate with the Berlin foreign office to ask whether this arrangement would be satisfactory.

ROME, Aug. 22.—Reports that a general mobilization of the entire fighting forces of the nation, including the home defense, has been decided on, and that the orders are ready to sign are current here.

It is stated at the foreign office that Marquis San Giuliano, the foreign minister, has received no word from Austria regarding his request for an extension of the landing of Austrian munition to arm the Albanians for service against Serbia. The feeling against Austria is very bitter throughout Italy.

Sandalwood Trees.

Sandalwood trees in India are generally found at an altitude of 2,000 to 3,000 feet.

CHARGE EXPLOSIVE BULLET TO GERMANY

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The French war office tonight directly charged that the Germans are using explosive bullets, in contravention of the rules of civilized warfare. In an official statement it was announced that a formal protest was made tonight to all of the neutral powers, signatory to The Hague convention, calling their attention to this violation of the rules, to which Germany was herself a party, and asking that they unite in a protest to the German government.

In addition, it was stated formal protests against the alleged bombardment of undefended cities and towns without formal warning, and of the alleged killing of noncombatants have been prepared, and they, too, will be forwarded to the various nations at once.

GERMANY APPEALS TO UNITED PRESS TO PRINT TRUTH

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Over the signature of Captain K. Boy-Ed, naval attache to the German embassy, the United Press this afternoon received the following statement by the imperial German chancellor, Von Bethmann-Rollweg, transmitted by telegraph from the embassy in Washington:

"Germany is completely cut off from the rest of the world, and can neither send out news dispatches or receive them. The empire is therefore unable to defend itself against the falsehoods propagated by the press of the hostile countries. It can only defend itself by its deeds. The German people will be profoundly grateful for every offer to disseminate the real truth."

The letter of transmittal from Captain Boy-Ed said: "By order of the German embassy, Washington, I take pleasure in sending enclosed a telegraphic statement just received from the imperial chancellor, Von Bethmann-Rollweg. I should be very much obliged for having it published by the United Press."

GERMANS FOLLOW MEUSE ON BOTH BANKS BY NAMUR

ready in progress. The forts at Namur are far stronger than were those at Liege and the Belgian garrison is well supplied with ammunition and food."

Rumor Enveloped.

The German army is moving along both banks of the Meuse past Namur, leaving a heavy artillery to reduce the fortifications. It is considered certain that it is striking at the French line and there are rumors that the Germans are attempting an enveloping movement, now that the Belgian army has been thrown back and bottled up.

It is admitted that the German cavalry has proven of great value to the Germans. They have raided in every direction, their reconnaissance having given the German general staff the information they so badly needed of the weak spots in the opposition line.

Thousands of Belgian refugees have poured into Holland and correspondents there of the French papers recite tales of great suffering. Few of the refugees have any money and all are suffering from want of food. The Dutch Red Cross is doing what it can.

The war office, in an official communication issued at noon says: "The Belgian concentration on Antwerp is complete and the entire army is now safe there. The army is intact and a formidable fighting force constituting a serious menace to the German rear."

Give Way in Alsace-Lorraine.

The war office admits the Germans have assumed the offensive in both Alsace and Lorraine. The French troops in Lorraine, having been unable to maintain their positions, have given way in the face of an overwhelming German force, presumably the German army of the Saar, reinforced by the Austrian field force that crossed Lake Constance and is one of the most formidable detachments of the Austrian army. The German army is reported again to be attacking the French troops which recently recaptured Mulhausen. A large detachment of this force has swung along the Swiss frontier and is attempting a flank attack upon the French army in Upper Alsace, which has its headquarters at Belfort. There has been very severe fighting at a number of points in Alsace-Lorraine, with enormous losses on both sides.

Uhlans Near Lille.

Reports reaching here today said that German Uhlans had already been reported from Audenarde, on the Scheldt river, thirty-five miles west of Brussels, fifty miles from the Belgian coast and only twenty-five miles from the fortified city of Lille.

Hannah More's Strictness.
For real Sabbatarianism we must go back a little. There was Hannah More, for instance, who refused to dine out on the Sabbath and retired to her own room on the very hint of music on that day. And more. Expressions like "christening" a ship, the "salvation" of a country or the "ascension" of a balloon were quite against her idea of the fitness of the use of words which had been exalted by their religious associations.—London Chronicle.

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

THE HIGHER COST OF LIVING

makes it increasingly important for everyone to save from income because, as the purchasing power of a dollar is so greatly reduced, $150 saved now is worth no more than $100 was a decade ago. The result of a general realization of this fact probably would be a determined effort to readjust our living expenses so that we could save an amount not just nominally the same as that we saved when the purchasing power of the dollar was greater, but relatively the same.

If we can save more, so much the better.

NAGLE BABY DIES ON WEDNESDAY

Little One Lives but Two Days; Gage-Stevens Wedding at Dresbach

DRESBACH, Minn., Aug. 22.—David Curtis Nagle, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nagle, died Wednesday morning, August 19. The little one was born August 17. The funeral was held from the home Thursday morning, Rev. Father Doyle officiating, and burial took place at Dakota, Minn. Mrs. Anna Kerrigan of La Crosse and Mrs. Rolland Dickson and Mrs. Harry Graw of La Crosse came up to attend the funeral.

Gage-Stevens
A pretty wedding occurred at the Episcopal church Wednesday morning, August 19, when Miss Daisy Gage was united in marriage to Benjamin Stevens, Rev. Chard of Hastings performing the ceremony. Prof. Packman of La Crosse presided at the organ and appropriate vocal selections were rendered, by the choir of the Christ church of La Crosse. The bride was gown in white broad-clothed satin and her sister, Miss Pansy Gage, who acted as maid of honor, wore white embroidery. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Webster. The many friends of the happy young couple join in wishing them a bright and prosperous future.

Many women long for children, but because of some curable physical derangement are deprived of this greatest of all happiness. The women whose names follow were restored to normal health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write and ask them about it.

"I took your Compound and have a fine, strong baby." — Mrs. JOHN MITCHELL, Massena, N. Y.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine for expectant mothers." — Mrs. A. M. MYERS, Gordonville, Mo.

"I highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before child-birth, it has done so much for me." — Mrs. E. M. DOERR, R. R. 1, Conshohocken, Pa.

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound to build up my system and have the dearest baby girl in the world." — Mrs. MOSE BLAKELEY, Imperial, Pa.

"I praise the Compound whenever I have a chance. It did so much for me before my little girl was born." — Mrs. E. W. SANDERS, Rowlesburg, W. Va.

"I took your Compound before baby was born and feel I owe my life to it." — Mrs. WINNIE TILLIS, Winter Haven, Florida.

Head of Serbian Church Here Reports Much Suffering in Serbia

The Rev. Sebastian Dabovitch, who is at the head of the Serbian Orthodox church in this country, representing here the archbishop of Belgrade, reports terrible suffering by women and children throughout Serbia. Three wars in three years have dried up benevolence. Orphanages founded to care for children left from earlier wars are declared by him to be without food supplies.

Many male members of the church in this country have volunteered to go back to Serbia to fight, but have been unable to secure passage. They are forming relief societies, both men and women leading, but Pastor Dabovitch states that Serbians here are unable to contribute all relief needed. Americans must come to their aid if they are not to die.

Church of England
Forms Board of Finance

Laymen of the Church of England, who already had a legislative body of their own, to see to it that plans made by lay minds go into Christian work along with plans made by clerical minds, have now established a central board of finance, and upon its membership have taken an overwhelming majority. The board is representative of both province of Canterbury and York, but business men from the middle ranks, bankers and lawyers, artisans and successful tradesmen.

Loyal to the hierarchy, the board nevertheless assumes powers sufficient to give it control of funds intended for new buildings, for the training of young men for the ministry, and to considerable extent for world missions. Trust funds by gift and devise are sought and held, and it is claimed by the Low Church party that in some measure at least control of ritualistic tendencies, the opposite, are to be exercised.

Sanction of appeals, avoidance of debts, wise distribution of funds to causes at home and abroad, are other aims of this new finance board.

Laymen in churches in America are moving along similar lines, but have not gone as far as those in England. Baptists and congregationalists have recently made over their benevolent machinery on these lines and Presbyterians, because of deplorable mission debts last year, are urging plans not unlike these of other bodies.

Christian Leaders Form Peace Alliance

At the moment European nations were declaring war Christian leaders from many nations, assembled in London, formed the World Alliance of Churches for International Friendship. Part of the men composing the executive committee were those just arrived from Constance by train provided by the German kaiser, driven out of Germany by the war. J. Allen Baker, M. P., the famous peace advocate and Quaker, was named chairman; the Rev. Dr. William P. Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, vice chairman; and the Rev. Dr. Frederick Lynch and W. H. Dickerman, M. P., secretaries.

Without regard to the outcome of the present war it was decided to hold in London next summer a peace conference, to have as its subject "The Churches and International Friendship," and committees were named to prepare papers and conference arrangements. All of these things were done while soldiers were leaving for the front, and crowds were gathered around bulletin boards reading war news.

Nothing is more evident than that the peace advocates, represented by the church peace union, are more determined than ever to push their cause. Andrew Carnegie has declared himself to be more interested, if possible, than before in the peace plans of nations, and more glad than ever of initial steps taken by him to help them.

Y. M. C. A. Demoralized
By European War

John R. Mott, the Y. M. C. A. leader and head of the continuation committee of World Foreign Missions, announces that the World's Christian Student Federation, with headquarters at Geneva, and part of the Y. M. C. A. work, is thoroughly demoralized by war. The said outcome is upon the federation of its three general secretaries being called into war to fight each other. Secretary Fermaud has been called to command a Swiss regiment, Secretary Sautern has entered the French army, and Secretary Crildius the German.

Canadian Y. M. C. A.'s stand ready to send across the Atlantic with the Canadian troops twenty welfare secretaries, or as many as the government will allow. It is supposed that some of them have accompanied them to the continent. The Soldiers' Christian association is organized in all arms of the British service, and is active at this time at the front.

The Salvation army, through General Bramwell Booth, tendered the army shelter houses at Portsmouth and other places to the British government, which accepted their use for the soldiers. English Salvation army men have enlisted as soldiers and women have gone as nurses.

Foreign Mission Work
Injured by War

Inquiries have just been made of missionary agencies in America concerning injury to their work in Europe, and elsewhere in mission fields, by the war in Europe. Lutherans of several names, Roman Catholics, Eastern Orthodox, Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist, Disciples, Episcopalians and Congregational societies have been consulted. Every one replies, at the outset, that the injury to Christian work at home and in all mission fields is supreme in the showing how thin so-called Christian civilization really is. Mohammedans, Shintoists, Brahmins and others have already made this point with American Christian societies having work by their side.

German Lutheran churches are all centers of German loyalty, with thousands of sermons. All cities are so reporting. Danish, Swedish and other Lutheran congregations, however, are taking the other side. Roman Catholics are being urged to increase their already large missionary gifts, since France, the largest giver to Catholic world missions, may be expected to default. Episcopal missions, apart from others, are perhaps less affected than any. Methodist, Baptist and Disciples have missions throughout Europe, and most of these are prostrate, many suffering severely. The American board, Congregational and the Presbyterian Foreign boards have issued statements of hopeful character concerning field work.

Belgians Crossing Meuse River Near Liege to Attack the Germans.

This photograph taken August 6 shows the Belgian troops loading on boats to cross the Meuse river near Liege to attack the German forces. The troops got into several heavy boats which were poled across the river. The side of the boats were covered with sheet iron to prevent bullets from going through. In this way the Belgians ferried their troops over to make their stand against their enemies.

BAEDEKER KILLED LONDON, Aug. 22.—A dispatch to The Times says Karl Baedeker, publisher of the Baedeker guide books, has been killed in action in Belgium.

Child Acts Surgeon's Role. Sarah Shaffer, thirteen years old, of Los Angeles, Cal., developed into a little heroine when her five-year-old sister fell on the sidewalk while at play and shattered her elbow. Dr. Edward G. Wiley, chief police surgeon, explained patiently over the telephone how the splint should be put on, and Sarah made such a good job of it as to win the admiration of all who saw the tiny patient when she arrived at the receiving hospital with her little amateur nurse. The children's father is at the county hospital and their mother went to visit him. Maybelle fell and broke her arm. Sarah called up the receiving hospital, but owing to the distance was advised to call one of the district doctors. She could raise none, and again called the receiving hospital. Doctor Wiley told Sarah what to do to relieve the baby's pain, while the ambulance raced out to the Shaffer home, and Sarah obeyed instructions to the letter.

He thinks she will always look as well as when he meets her in the evening. And he may be fooled in other respects.

Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Estimates that 1,500,000 bushels of wheat were shipped abroad yesterday set the pit leaders in an excited buying scramble today and prices at the close today showed a gain of 2 3/4 to 3 cents over last night's closing figures. Offerings were very scarce, and at one time may have reached $1.11, equaling its high record for the year.

December went to $1.04 and September reached 99 1/2c.

Corn was helped by the flurry in wheat and made gains of 1/2 to 1 1/4c during the day's brief session. Trading was light.

Oats followed the other grains and advanced 1/2 to 1 1/4c.

Provisions were firm and a trifle higher on fairly heavy hog receipts at the Stock Yards.

The board of trade closed at 11:45 today out of respect for former President Warren, whose funeral was held today.

LOCALS TO STAGE LABOR DAY FIGHTS

"Peanuts" Schieberl and Billy Defoe Bout to Be the Feature of Holiday Show

La Crosse fight fans will on Labor day see what is expected to be the best boxing show pulled off in La Crosse in years.

After nearly two months of idleness, fight promoters of the city have launched plans for a first-class show on Labor day, September 7.

One of the features of the exhibition will be the Schieberl-Defoe match at featherweights. Defoe in his bouts here has demonstrated beyond a doubt that he is one of the best and fastest men in the business. In his bout here in April with Joe Bishop he won the unanimous acclamation of La Crosse fans.

Schieberl is beyond question among the best featherweights in the business. He but recently returned from a triumphant march through Montana, cleaning up whomever he met. For the last two weeks, La Crosse fans have shown much interest in "Peanut's" work at his boxing academy. During his stay he has taken on a number of husky would-bees as well as Young O'Connor of Grand Rapids. The last bout was in the shape of practice for "Peanuts."

The bouts will be held in the La Crosse theater and will be under the direct supervision of State Inspector John Moore. State Referee George Duffy, who has made many fast friends in La Crosse as arbiter, will be on the job.

Matchmaker Rooney has not as lined up the other bouts, it being understood that he is keeping watch for the best possible material.

When it comes to talent, promoters are convinced that there is a plenty right here in La Crosse.

SLY BURGOMASTER IS SHOT
PARIS, Aug. 22.—The war office in an official statement issued today says that the Germans have shot the burgomaster of Aerschot and several of the prominent residents of the Belgian municipality.

"I know the ins and outs of it," said the thread. "Yes," replied the needle, "sew do I."

EAGLES TO MEET OPACOS SUNDAY

Local Aerie Will Meet Onalaska in One of Most Important Games of the Year

What is conceded to be the first championship game of the season will be seen tomorrow afternoon at League park when the La Crosse Eagles meet the strong Opacos of Onalaska. The game will have much bearing on the standing of the Eagles in the city championship as well as in the inter-sectional standing.

Since the Eagles played the Opacos July 4, suffering two defeats, the locals have improved wonderfully having met one defeat since then, that at the hands of the Winona Schellhas. Since that time they have to their credit two victories over Houston, two over Rushford and also wins from Lansing, Viroqua and Tomah.

Manager Ritter is undecided as to who he will pitch against Slickles, the big Indian. It is probable that either Fitzki or Ritter will take the mound.

LOCAL MEN WILL PUBLISH MUSIC

La Crosse has a new music publishing company and its offerings become as popular as the young men who have organized it, and as their musical genius suggests, they should have a great vogue in the land.

"Goetzinger & Niemeyer, Music Publishers," is the name of the firm, and Emil Niemeyer and Walter Goetzinger are the proprietors. Both, in addition to their well known talents, have had experience in composing.

Their first publications, now in the printer's hands, will be "You Can't Make Eyes at Other Guys and Still Make Eyes at Me," "The Villain Rag," and "I'll Wait for You, Bill, with the Old Whip/poorwill."

MULFORD FAVORITE FOR GRIND TODAY

Big Racer Picked to Win Elgin National Trophy Over De Palma Who Took First Friday

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 22.—Ralph Mulford, driving a French Peugeot, was the favorite today while a score of pilots were tuning up their cars, awaiting the referee's pistol at 11 a. m. that was to send them away in the 301 mile race for the Elgin national trophy.

As in former years the Elgin national event drew a larger crowd than the Chicago Automobile club trophy race, which was won by Ralph De Palma for the third consecutive year yesterday. Ideal weather brought more than 20,000 speed fans to the course early in the day.

Mulford finished third in yesterday's event, but was believed to be holding in reserve for today's race and was touted to win on the theory that De Palma could not stand the strain of another terrific drive today. Gil Anderson, winner of last year's Elgin national, and Barney Oldfield, each in a Stutz car, were picked to fight it out with Mulford.

REPORT AUSTRIAN SHIP DESTROYED

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The war office in an official statement just issued says: "It is reliably reported that the Austrian battleship Zrinyi was blown up during the bombardment of Antivari."

The battleship Zrinyi was built at Trieste in 1910, was 450 3/4 feet long, with a displacement of 14,226 tons and her armament consisted of four 12-inch, eight 9.4 inch, twenty 3.9 inch and six 12 pounders. She carried a crew of 816 men.
